

genU studio artists—RISE

Forty-seven genU artists have created work for RISE since the beginning of 2022. One small box with a drawing on it was the spark for this vast installation. It became clear that the artists' individual practices could work in harmony with each other through the exhibition design—a perfect metaphor for the strength and support that community can offer an individual.

RISE artists:

Natalee Anderson, Manuela Bortoletto, Jamie Connelly, Sue Dawson, Julie Day, Luke Deak, Aaron Deans, Trevor Dunt, Christine Ericksson, David Fielding, Ash Fitzgerald, Isabel Fitzgerald, Zak Footer, Linda Francis, Kellie Greaves, Harry Grundell, Rita Halabarec, Helen Heathcote, Elizabeth Humphreys, Elvira Juraga, Kyra Keenahan, Sophie Keene, Frank Kolosa, Kate Law, David Learmonth, Rosie Leigh, Marcus Lovell, Nick Lowden, Sandra Mann, Bonnie May, Joel Martinez, Brooke Mitchell, Jabyn Parr, Nicholas Richardson, Joshua Regalado, Amy Robins, Sherri Russell, Melanie Saleh, Susan Simpson, John Stewart, Morgan Tasic, Chris Thomas, Angela Vuik, James Ward, Kirsten Waugh, Jana Wiesebrock, and Samantha Whittaker.

RISE art facilitators:

Curators: Teresa Lawrence and Fiona Watkins

David Dellafiora, Liz McGrath, Gosia Reflinski, Steven Lawrence, Leeanne Carleton, Victoria Mathews, Chloe Francis, Heather Santilli, Evita Siketa, Molina Ware, and Honi Travers.

RISE soundtrack:

While works for RISE were being created, sound artist Stephen Oakes recorded the artists at work in the studios, capturing conversations, music, and the sounds of creative activity.

GH Commercial have generously supported this aspect of the exhibition, and genU's art programs.

Scan the code or click here to see a short film about the GH Commercial Social Canvas project and the production of the RISE soundtrack.